THERAPEUTIC RIDING SPRING SESSION

Spring has sprung, the grass is definitely rising and the CDSCL Therapeutic Riding Program getting ready to start it's spring session at their new location on the Endicott Properties (849A Erickson Road across from Centennial Park).

Volunteers (including the Creston Valley Rotary Club) have been hard at work all winter preparing the property and building a riding ring which is almost complete. The community rallied round donating everything that was needed for the new ring - Pennco Engineering gave advice, Alex Nilsson and Terry Munkerud surveyed the site, Justin Kettle and Environmental Management Company did the excavation work, Jim McDonald hauled the equipment, the Town of Creston and Hedlund Contracting Ltd. donated the sand, Keith Friesen did the bobcat work, Kootenay Wood Preservers donated the posts and rails, Home Building Centre and Pyramid Building Supply donated the hardware
